

Pen & Sword Books have launched a free bi-monthly online magazine entitled Warfare, published under our magazine imprint Wharncliffe History Magazines. The magazine can be viewed online, downloaded and even printed off – all free of charge.

Content includes military, family and general history, wargaming, modelling and re-enactment. There is a new release and review section for books, computer games and films as well as model kits, wargames and miniature models. Each issue will feature exclusive competitions and reader offers, all presented in a modern, reader-friendly interactive format. As Warfare is a free publication, it can be enjoyed by anyone with internet access – from school children to pensioners.

Warfare is already proving a hit with readers and advertisers alike. Its interactive capabilities provide a more stimulating read; with articles and adverts being brought to life through Flash content, video clips and audio effects. Advertisers are offered a platform like no other: with a single click you can access further reading material and request information on products and services. You can even search our events listings for something to do at the weekend!

Issue 1 of Warfare is available now. To view the magazine visit www.warfaremagazine.co.uk and simply enter your name and e-mail address for your free life subscription. Everyone who subscribes to the magazine will be entered into a prize draw for the chance to win a free Kindle.
