

Chief Executive

Fly Navy Heritage Trust

Somerset

The Fly Navy Heritage Trust (FNHT) is a progressive charity with a difference, dedicated to the protection and projection of the nation's Naval Aviation Heritage. Its objectives embrace the provision of a flying memorial, education and inspiration, catalyzed by the examples of historic naval aircraft and the stories of the people who built, maintained, flew and fought in them. To deliver against its objectives the FNHT provides regular direct financial support to the Royal Naval Historic Flight (RNHF) fleet of historic naval aircraft and occasional support to the Fleet Air Arm Museum and the Fleet Air Arm Memorial Church. The Trust also owns two historic naval aircraft operated through its separately managed trading company.

On the retirement of the incumbent the Trustees seek a new Chief Executive, to be responsible for the executive leadership of the Trust as it enters an exciting period of change, and the management of all aspects of the Trust's fundraising and business affairs

The successful candidate will possess impressive leadership and management skills, commercial acumen, and a passion for UK heritage, coupled with flexibility and comfort with the management of change and complexity. The role requires excellent communication, presentational and stakeholder engagement skills. Charitable sector experience and a proven ability to bring innovative fundraising approaches into play are desirable. Military experience is not a requirement.

Salary and other benefits as appropriate to the role and successful candidate, for confidential agreement with the Trustees.

The Fly Navy Heritage Trust prospectus, business plan and annual report and accounts are available on request T. 01935 849200.
